Additional Information:

-Many courses require prerequisites, please consult the the UGA Bulletin at <https://bulletin.uga.edu/> .

-The Department of Health Promotion does not accept online versions of the following classes: COMM 1110.

-The behavioral medicine area of emphasis is a highly competitive pre-medical area of emphasis within the major. A 3.5 GPA is required to apply to this emphasis. Students who are not accepted to the BM emphasis may declare the Health Services area of emphasis.

-Information on HPRB 3480S - Field experience in HPB (internship)

- The field experience will be completed (during one semester for 3 credit hours) no earlier than the student's final semester of study for the degree.
- Prior to HPRB 3480S enrollment
 - Students must submit their internship proposal documents by mid-point of the semester preceding the internship.
 - First Aid and CPR certification is a required part of the internship proposal and will not be evaluated until senior year.
 - Students must complete all University requirements (including PEDB).
 - Students must complete all major-required courses with a C or better.

-Important: Additional undergraduate classes may be needed for students pursuing pre-professional pathways (i.e. pre-med, pre-PA, pre-dental, pre-law, etc.). It is important that students review the admission criteria of their intended graduate professional program well in advance. Students are advised to meet with their intended graduate pre-professional advisor to ensure they are meeting all graduate application requirements, as well as reviewing their graduate application strategy and timeline.

Learn more about the Pre-Professional Advising Office at <https://ppao.uga.edu/>

-Double Dawgs students

Once accepted to the Double Dawgs pathway, students may enroll in Double Dawg graduate level courses. Students work with the Double Dawg Advisor for individualized plans.
