¹ The Multisite Violence Prevention Project is the corporate author—also called collective or group author—for the GREAT Schools and Families Project. Corporate authors are frequently used in large, multicenter clinical trials with many investigators because it allows researchers to share credit equally. Given their magnitude, clinical trials would be impossible to implement by one center or by one investigator. The GREAT Schools and Families was a large, multisite clinical trial in which 37 schools were randomly assigned to intervention or control conditions. Four universities and the National Center for Injury Prevention and Control at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention partnered to develop, implement, and evaluate a state-of-the-art violence prevention intervention. Dr. Orpinas is one of four co-investigators at UGA.
