HEALTH EQUITY FELLOWS 2022-2023

The College of Public Health is accepting Applications for the Health Equity Fellows Cohort of 2023.

ABOUT THE HEALTH EQUITY FELLOWS

Since 2020, the College has partnered with the Georgia Municipal Association (GMA) to pair students with cities to address health disparities and advance health equity. Students and partner cities will work together to address long-standing issues and promote wellbeing through a social determinants of health approach.

Six Health Equity Fellows will be chosen to serve during the 2022-2023 academic year. If selected, students will receive a $1,000 stipend from the College to support them in their work. Fellows also receive a faculty mentor and will participate in a peer learning community as a cohort. Final projects will be presented in a symposium held April 2023.

CITY PARTNERS

Partner Cities include:
Atlanta, Decatur, Chamblee,
College Park, East Point, and
Clarkston

APPLICATION DEADLINE

Please submit an application by 5pm on September 2, 2022 for full consideration.
